Dance Into Camp!

Camp officially starts with the welcome party at 7 pm on Sunday. Before that party, there are two additional opportunities to dance!

If you will be at the resort Sunday afternoon with time to spare, please consider signing up for one or both of these classes.

Sunday, June 8th at 2:30 pm

A man and a woman are dancing on a light-colored wooden floor. The man is wearing a black suit and a black cowboy hat. The woman is wearing a red, long-sleeved, ruffled dress and tan cowboy boots. They are holding hands and looking at each other.

Get Off the Fence—Sign Up for Camp!

By Greg Sample

Greg & Mary Sample

When my wife, Mary, first mentioned a “Dance Camp” in some tiny Mississippi town I’d never heard of, I was beyond skeptical.

“Who drives to the middle of nowhere to take ballroom dance lessons from a bunch of people we don’t even know?” I asked. “And I have to take a whole week of vacation for this?”

Hard pass, I thought. But curiosity got the better of us. As a compromise (read: my hesitation), we signed up for just two days.

I couldn't have been more wrong.

If you're on the fence about attending All Star Dance Camp, let me clear things up: this is not a waste of your time. You will have fun. And you will learn—probably more than you expect. In fact, this week in June is the best bang for your buck you'll find when it comes to ballroom dancing.

At All Star Dance Camp we've done it all—challenging classes that push us to grow, fundamentals that reinforce our foundation, and even completely new styles that keep things fresh.

By the end of each day, your feet will be worn out, your brain will be full, and you'll be so glad you came. And just when you think you can't dance another step, the evening brings incredible food, social dancing, and spectacular performances. Along the way, we've met amazing people, made lifelong friends, and discovered even more exciting dance events—like Dancing With the King in Tupelo.

So stop hesitating. Grab your shoes, pack your bag, punch Philadelphia, MS, into your GPS, and get ready for an unforgettable experience. You won't regret it for a second.
