Seating for Evening Parties at Camp

Sunday Night Welcome Party

If you are attending camp for your very first year, you will have a reserved seat for the Sunday night welcome party. There is open seating for all other campers.

Newcomers, Sunday night you will find a seating chart in the lobby that lets you know to which table you have been assigned. There will be two camp ambassadors at your table to answer any questions you have about camp.

If you are attending with a group and you do not wish to sit at a newcomer's table, be sure to let Jill know by calling her or texting her at 662-213-0504.

Dinner Seating Monday through Thursday

At our camp dinners, Monday through Thursday, there will be assigned seating, similar to what you would experience on a cruise ship. Each camper will be assigned to a table with a specific group of campers.

The group's table will be in a different location in the ballroom each evening in order to give every group premier seating on at least one of the evenings.

To Reserve a Table

If you have a group of six or more people you'd like to sit with, you can reserve a table and choose a name for your group. Since tables seat ten, we encourage filling all ten spots if you can.

To reserve a table, email the names of your group members along with the name of your group to Jill at jaustin.allstardance@gmail.com by April 26th. If your group has fewer than ten people, Jill will assign others to your table to ensure it's full.

If you are establishing a new group, you might be interested in some of the names other groups have. Here is a sample: Bama Fever, Nooga Smooth, Oldies but Goodies, etc. Or, if you are coming with a studio group or dance club, you may want your table name to simply be the name of the studio or club.

If you're attending camp with a friend or meeting someone there and want to sit together but you have fewer than six, and it may not be obvious to Jill that you would like to sit together, send her an email requesting to be seated at the same table with your friend or friends.

Extra tables will be available for socializing after dinner, so you'll have the flexibility to move around. At the same time, assigned seating ensures that those without a designated group won't have to search for a place to sit.

If you have any questions, contact Jill at 662-213-0504.
