What Kind of Person Comes to Camp?

Dance Lines by Rubye Del Harden

There's a question I hear every year:

"What kind of person comes to dance camp?" I just want to know if I will fit in.

And the truth is... there isn't just one kind.

A camper might be a school teacher. A banker. A nurse. A landscaper. An engineer. An industrial maintenance manager. A factory worker, a farmer. . .

A high school student who has discovered a great activity. A member of a college ballroom club. A retiree finally doing something they've always wanted to do. The list is endless.

We've had campers in their preteens... and campers in their 80s and even 90s.

We have campers who are just starting to dance and campers who have had dance as their hobby for years.

The majority of our campers are amateurs even though several pros join us each year. Most campers are social dancers even though several of our campers like to compete, as well.

So no—there's no single profile. No neat category.

But there is one thing we all have in common.

We love to dance. And we want to learn more about it.

Some found dance because a friend invited them. Some walked into a studio on a whim. Some danced in college. Some just got curious and tried a class.

However they started, at some point they made a decision: Dance is going to be my thing.

Other people play tennis. Or hike. Or ski. Or play pickleball.

Dance camp people?

We dance.

We are the "have dance shoes, will travel" crowd.

If there's music and a floor somewhere - Chattanooga, the Gulf Coast, Memphis, Birmingham, Austin, Texas, all across the country - we're interested.

And if you're wondering if you'll fit in at camp, here's your answer:

If you love to dance...you already do.

Now I'll be honest with you.

If you don't love dancing, you probably won't enjoy dance camp.

Not because you wouldn't be welcome - but because we are, admittedly, a little over the top.

We talk dance.

We think dance.

We ask questions about dance.

We tell stories about dance.

And at camp?

That gets multiplied. We are dance on steroids!

We dance all day. We learn all day. We laugh and make friends all day. And then... we dance all night.

So yes - if that sounds like a lot... it is.

But if that sounds like heaven?

Then you're our kind of person.

And you might just be making a big mistake if you don't come. Because we are a lot of fun!

So come join us.

And bring your dance shoes.
